Innotribe

Be inspired. Be provoked. The future is happening now.

Fully integrated on the exhibition floor, Innotribe will once more build a welcoming and interactive space designed to explore the latest trends around innovation, deliver thought-provoking content, and challenge existing perceptions.

Innotribe will cover a range of topics - from disruption re-designed, modern organisation, man-machine convergence, platform cooperation to DLT and cyber security. In addition, a number of spotlight sessions will focus on FinTech hubs from across the globe, and showcase other Innotribe initiatives such as the Industry Challenges on Securities and Compliance, and the Startup Challenge - highlighting the new technologies developed by the startup community in Africa and Latin America.

Working with global professionals, renowned experts, and senior executives from banks and financial institutions, Innotribe will encourage discussion and collaboration within the financial industry and demonstrate that innovation can help incumbents, not just disrupt them.

Who should attend?

Every year, Innotribe aims at re-inventing itself to make sure the programme delivered at Sibos surpasses the enthusiasm shown during previous editions.

Innotribe is open to all Sibos delegates. Throughout the Sibos week, Innotribe will be the centre of expertise on innovation for the benefit of all relevant stakeholders, including business analysts, strategists, product managers, innovation managers, transaction bankers, securities managers, corporates, standards experts, payment professionals, regulators, and policy makers.

Why attend?

Like last year, Innotribe puts innovation center stage at Sibos, and will provide a forum for critical dialogue where all Sibos delegates will get the opportunity to:

- Attend the “Future of Money” session, positioned as a Big Issue Debate in the Plenary room for the first time this year
- Meet some of the most forward thinking leaders in distributed ledger technology and cyber-security
- Explore what it means to be a modern organisation and understand how man and machine can work together
- Understand the different patterns of disruption and how incumbents can react to them
- Help define the principles for platform cooperation in more distributed ecosystems
- Explore collaboration with a wide range of FinTech hubs from different continents, with a specific focus on the Swiss ecosystem
- Gain insights on the new technologies developed by the startup community in Africa and Latin America through sessions dedicated to the winners of the 2016 Innotribe Startup Challenge
